

Chip Fisher is a Partner in the debt finance practice at Akin Gump. For more than 30 years, Chip has represented institutional purchasers of privately placed debt and equity securities, including project financing, secured and unsecured lending transactions, and mezzanine and other subordinated debt and equity investments.

Chip has been involved in some of the largest transactions in major markets around the world and, over the course of his career, has represented virtually the entire private placement investor community.

Chip is a former trustee and current member of the American College of Investment Counsel, and he is counsel to the Private Placement Investors Association.