David Lawton is a deal lawyer embedded in the Private Credit team at Voya, underwriting high yield, middle market, and investment grade private credit: fixed and floating rate loans, private placements, structured finance, ABF, and other credits across a broad spectrum of sectors in North America, Europe, LatAm, and Australia. David manages investment assets for general accounts, third-party clients and funds, provides special situations and restructuring support and counsel for a private credit platform, and engages with third-party clients in the onboarding process.